Abstract

Achievement in Taught Modules as a Predictor of Subsequent Behaviour of Project Management Masters Students in The British University in Dubai

A review of literature demonstrates that there are several studies on different aspects of higher education including progression patterns, achievement, completion and predictors of academic success. In this study, the researcher investigates the influence of student performance in the taught modules in the MSc Project Management (MPM) programme on the second stage of the programme, the dissertation component. Further, the researcher investigates the correlation between the taught modules overall grade and the time taken to complete the dissertation. That is, whether a good overall performance in the taught modules leads to timely completion of the dissertation and thus the programme itself, or vice versa. This study is important as completion rates seem to be an issue in higher education and, specifically in the MPM programme in The British University in Dubai. Quantitative research methods are used for analysis of data collected from the University records/archives, and descriptive and inferential analyses are used to interpret the data. An independent t-test and Pearson Correlation Coefficient tests were used to test the two-tailed hypotheses.

Findings show that performance in the first part of the programme (taught modules) is neither a predictor of subsequent behavior in terms of programme completion nor does it have a bearing on the time taken to complete the second stage (dissertation). This indicates that the taught modules do not necessarily add value to the students' learning and does not prepare them to handle the rigors of dissertation work. The implications of these findings are discussed and recommendations are made to the policy makers to enhance the structure of the programme which could lead to higher completion rates.

التحصيل في المساقات التدريسية كمتنبىء للسلوك اللاحق لطلاب ماجستير إدارة المشاريع في الجامعة البريطانية في دبي

تظهر مراجعة الأدبيات أن هناك عدة دراسات في جوانب متعددة من التعليم العالي بما فيها أنماط التدرج ، التحصيل ، الإكمال ومنتبئات النجاح الأكاديمي. في هذه الدراسة ، يتحقق الباحث من تأثير أداء الطالب في المساقات التدريسية في برنامج ماجستير العلوم في إدارة المشاريع في المرحلة الثانية من البرنامج ، وهي مكون الأطروحة. بالإضافة لذلك ، يحقق الباحث في العلاقة بين العلامة الكلية للمساقات التدريسية والوقت المستغرق في إنهاء الأطروحة وبالتالي البرنامج ككل و بالعكس. هذه الدراسة مهمة لأن نسبة الإنجاز تبرز كقضية في التعليم العالي و تحديداً في برنامج ماجستير إدارة المشاريع في الجامعة البريطانية في دبي. أساليب البحث الكمي استعملت لتحليل البيانات من أرشيف و سجلات الجامعة. و استعملت التحليلات الوصفية و الإستنتاجية لتفسير البيانات بالإضافة لإستعمال فحص (تي) المستقل ومعامل علاقة بيرسون لفحص الفرضية ذات الطرفين المزدوجين.

تم التوصل إلى أن الأداء في الجزء الأول من البرنامج ( المساقات التدريسية) ليس منتبناً للسلوك التالي بما يخص إكمال البرنامج وايضاً ليس ذا علاقة بمقدار الوقت الذي يستغرقه الجزء الثاني ( إتمام الأطروحة ) . هذا يوضح أن المساقات التدريسية لا تضيف قيمة بالضرورة لتعلم الطالب و لا تهينهم لتحمل أعباء العمل للإطروحة. التضامين المستنتجة من هذه الأبحاث تم مناقشتها و تقديم التوصيات بخصوصها لصناع القرار لتعزيز تركيبة البرنامج مما سيؤدي لمعدلات أنجاز أكبر.

Acknowledgements

To God – for his blessings and guidance.

My mother – my tower of strength - I thank her for her contribution in every phase of my life. She stood by me through my trials and tribulations. She is not here to see my achievement, but I know she is up there showering me with her blessings.

My family for its unstinting support and belief in me.

My Supervisor and Concentration Leader, Dr Clifton Chadwick, who with a phrase or a sentence, turned me in the right direction when I was unable to see light. A champion of critical thinking, he made me think, reflect, observe, search and research.

The Faculty of Education made me believe in myself and provided guidance and support, notably Professor Eman Gaad and Dr Naz Awan, and Dr Mick Randall (former Head of Programme). A special thank you to Professor Ashly Pinnington for supporting me with timely, valuable inputs.

BUiD management for giving me the time and opportunity to complete this programme.

And my gratitude to all my colleagues in BUiD for their time when I asked for it and their responsiveness.
